Five Dead, 19 Hurt As Train Crashes Into School Bus

44 CHILDREN ARE TRAPPED IN WRECKAGE

Entire San Joaquin Valley Appalled By Worst Accident in Its History
HOSPITAL IS CROWDED
Airplanes Used to Bring Child Specialist From Frisco to Valley Town

MERCED, May 8.—(UP)—The toll of dead and injured in a collision between a locomotive and a stage filled with 44 children continued to mount today with five fatalities. Three probably fatally hurt and 16 others in a serious condition.

The entire San Joaquin valley was appalled by the accident. The worst grade crossing mishap in its history. A slow moving Santa Fe railroad engine struck the loaded bus at the G street crossing here, shunted the machine and its screaming occupants 50 feet down the tracks and then tossed it to one side.

Some of the children, all between six and 10 years old, were crushed inside the bus. Others were thrown under the trucks of the locomotive and the rest fell beside the tracks. Only 19 escaped with minor injuries.

Airplanes brought child specialists from San Francisco and today the physicians waged a desperate fight to save the most seriously injured.

The children killed were Roy and Dolores Epton, eight year old twins of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Epton; Jean Ahr, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Ahr; Robert Fuller, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Fuller; and Marshall, Pirtle, 7. The latter died today in the hospital of a fractured skull.

Driver Near Death
Among those not expected to live was J. B. Kregger, 50, driver of the bus. He was conscious for a few minutes after the crash. His only words were, "I did not see the train."

The children most seriously injured were Muriel Koller, fractured skull; Marilyn Robinson and Helen Fogleman, concussions of the brain; Irene Ahr, fractured skull and Jean Oaks, basal fracture of the skull. Mrs. Kregger, in the bus with her husband, received skull injuries.

All the children lived in the Bear Creek agriculture section, north of Merced. They were homeward bound from school yesterday afternoon when the crash occurred. The freight train, bound from

Wants State To Kill All Imbeciles

CHICAGO, May 8.—(UP)—A suggestion that imbeciles and victims of incurable diseases be "killed off" with painless drugs administered by official sanction, was under consideration today by the Illinois Homeopathic Medical association.

The suggestion was made to the association in connection here by Dr. L. Merrill Henikoff, who contended that not only would such a measure save the country millions of dollars annually, but that it also would "relieve worlds of heartbreak and needless suffering."

"All good doctors are fighting to prolong life, yet situations develop where it is a question whether to prolong life is desirable," explained Dr. William Alva Guild in supporting Dr. Henikoff.

PRESIDENT AND GOVERNOR WILL DISCUSS WATER

Rolph Will Take Up Problems With Hoover When Latter Comes West

FRESNO, May 8.—(UP)—If President Hoover comes to California this summer Governor James Rolph Jr. will seek a conference with him in the hope of an early solution of California's water problem, the governor said here yesterday.

Engineers will be brought into the conference with the president to aid completion of a co-ordinated federal-state program on the water problem, he said.

"I will consult with President Hoover regarding the obtaining of federal assistance to solve our water problems," he said. "A suitable water storage plan will require $150,000,000, which it is proposed we borrow from the government at a low interest rate. I shall talk to Mr. Hoover about such a loan."

"I also propose to go thoroughly into the Hoover-Young report on the water situation and to consult with engineers about the erection of dams for storage so that this state will be assured of sufficient water during dry years."

"When this tremendous work is completed—it is urgent—I will call the legislature into special session. A proposal for the ballot should be adopted then, and should be ratified by the people at the next election."

MRS. KENNEDY WILL SEEK QUIET REFUGE

LOS ANGELES, May 8.—(UP)—Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of Almeda Semple McPherson, who was stricken seriously ill on her return from a northern trip, was today reported much better by friends who have been attending her.

Mrs. Kennedy is under a doctor's care and despite the urging of her friends prefers to remain in her home near Angelus temple rather than go to a hospital.

She plans to seek some quiet refuge away from the city as soon as she is able to be moved.

Airplanes Take Part In Fresno Raisin Festival

FRESNO, Calif., May 8.—(UP)—Second day of the California raisin festival celebration was entered today as airplanes from all parts of the valley and a few from Northern and Southern California gathered for the San Joaquin valley air show.

Yesterday's 23rd annual raisin day parade was regarded as an unqualified success, with an estimated 150,000 onlookers.

The Fresno Chinese association float was awarded the sweepstakes prize, with the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce entry, "Maker of My Dream," winning first prize for civic organizations outside of Fresno.

ABANDONMENT OF TWO CITY SCHOOLS UP BEFORE BOARD

Five Injured In Crashes In County

One Arrested on Charges of Driving Automobile While Intoxicated

ONE MAN was arrested on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, and five persons were injured in two automobile accidents reported in the county during the past 24 hours.

Jack Riddle, Santa Ana, was reported in a serious condition at the Orange county hospital, and Clarence Brady is in the county jail with a liquor count as the result of an accident on North Main street, just outside the city limits, at 6 o'clock last night.

The Brady car hit the curbing on the east side of the street and turned over. Brady lives at 602 East Fourth street. In Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today Brady was arraigned on the driving charges and his hearing set for May 14, at 9 a. m. Bail of $1,000 was demanded, which was not made.

Riddle, first taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital was transferred later to the Orange County hospital.

Four Mexicans were injured, several seriously when the car in which they were riding, driven by A. F. Estrada, 33, of Anaheim, collided with a machine driven by C. S. Shepard, of Anaheim Route No. 3, at La Jolla and Blue Gum roads, east of Anaheim, early today.

R. E. Lanno Derduco, of La Habra suffered serious cuts and bruises about the head, arms and legs; S. Marquez, 30, of La Jolla suffered several broken ribs on the right side; K. E. Estrada, of Swan street, Anaheim, suffered a broken arm and serious cuts and bruises and A. F. Estrada received a broken ankle and serious cuts and bruises.

The suspects are Walter Miller, alias "Moose" Miller, and John Letz, 31, alias "Copenhagen" Shorty.

According to police, the trio went into a South Pacific avenue establishment to have some drinks early this morning. An argument was said to have developed in which Staples was shot to death by a gun said by police to have been drawn by Miller.

COPENHAGEN, May 8.—(UP)—Augustine Courtland, rich young Briton who had been facing starvation in the wilderness of the Greenland ice cap, was safe today and trudging slowly toward the nearest outpost of civilization, Angmagssalik.

A sledge party led by H. G. Watkins and made more determined by repeated failures to locate Courtland, finally found the young explorer on the inland ice.

FAMOUS EDITOR SAYS NEWS COLUMNS BELONG TO READER

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 8.—(UP)—News columns do not belong to newspaper editors or owners, but to the readers, and the whole responsibility of the newspaper is to tell its readers, without fear, favor or prejudice everything within the range of possibility and human ingenuity, Robert P. Scripps, editorial director of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, said in an address before the University of Missouri School of Journalism last night on "The Liberal Press."

The type of man who should edit, report and write for a liberal paper, he said, should be one who favors greater freedom in political, religious and economic matters, and who is tolerant.

"I do not believe," he said, "there can be any true liberalism, in journalism or out of it, without a large measure of tolerance. The newspaper, however fine the spirit of its editorial columns, that refuses to report adequately the speeches by or about a candidate for office whom it opposes, is simply not functioning as a liberal newspaper."

Scripps quoted a correspondent who defined liberalism as "not so much a definite editorial policy, as it is a definite editorial technique, in other words, we have aggressive progressive policies; we present these policies in a liberal manner; that is to say with full recognition and appreciation of the right of any man to disagree and take issue with us."

Discussion Postponed Until Later
Reporter Refuses to Keep Matter Out of Paper and Board Adjourns

A BANDONMENT of Jefferson and Lincoln schools and consolidation of those school districts with other school districts in the city is a subject that was suggested by Dr. Margaret Baker to the Santa Ana board of education for discussion last night. No public discussion of the matter was held by the board however, due to refusal of a newspaper man to withhold the subject matter from the press.

Such a move would result in the elimination of seven teachers from the system and as such would be a measure of economy, it was learned. The matter was first broached during the discussion of the number of teachers that would be required to staff the city schools, when a member of the board stated that "elimination of two schools was being contemplated which would result in the elimination of seven teachers from the staff," but no explanation was made at that time of what was meant.

Later in the evening Rolla Hays inquired what was meant by the elimination of two schools and George Wells, president of the board, called upon Dr. Baker to present a proposition which he said she desired the board to consider. She had only progressed with the matter to the statement

TIJUANA, Baja California, May 8.—(UP)—Roque Sabida Quijano, private secretary to Mayor Miguel Angel Menendez, appointed three days ago to the mayoralty post of the border town, died today from a bullet wound suffered when the mayor was attacked on a main street here.

Mayor Menendez and his party were set upon by mysterious assailants about midnight after he had addressed a meeting of combined Tijuana labor unions at the labor temple.

A number of men leaped from an alley and attacked the mayor, Quijano, Jose Ricardi, an aviator, and Dr. L. Y. Roberts, a Tijuana physician.

The mayor, Ricardi and Dr. Roberts were beaten during the scuffle and Quijano was killed by a bullet in the abdomen.

Pantages' Trial Date In Attack Case Set Monday

LOS ANGELES, May 8.—(UP)—Date for the second trial of Alexander Pantages, theater magnate, on charges of attacking Eunice Pringle, dancer, will be set next Monday, it was made known today.

Pantages has been ordered by Superior Judge William C. Doran to appear in his court Monday for setting of the date.

Appealing against his conviction of attacking Miss Pringle, Pantages won a reversal which was fought by the prosecution to the state supreme court, which confirmed the decision of the appellate court in giving the millionaire showman a new trial.

It was believed the new trial would not be scheduled before July in view of other charges upon which Pantages must face hearing.

NEW YORK GANG LEADER TAKEN IN GUN FIGHT

"Two Gun" Crowley Captured After Battle Witnessed By 10,000

NEW YORK, May 8.—(UP)—Francis "Two Gun" Crowley, 110 pound desperado who was trapped and shot in one of the most thrilling police operations this city has seen in years, is bound for the electric chair "by the quickest possible route," Nassau county authorities said today.

The 20-year-old killer, cringing under the certain knowledge that his chances of escaping electrocution are not more than one in 100, was taken in an ambulance from Bellevue hospital today to the Nassau county hospital at Mineola, L. I. His three wounds, one in each leg and one in the wrist, will heal quickly, doctors said.

At 10:30 a. m., a hastily assembled county grand jury returned an indictment against Crowley charging first degree murder for the brutal killing of Patrolman Frederick Hirsch. The indictment was

LITTLE HOPE HELD FOR DR. MICHELSON

PASADENA, Calif., May 8.—(UP)—Little hope was held for the life of Dr. Herbert Michelson, 73, veteran scientist, early today following a cerebral hemorrhage.

"It is doubtful if he will live through the night," Dr. Walter Bliss, his attending physician, announced.

Dr. Michelson lapsed into a coma shortly after 5:30 p. m. yesterday. He has been suffering from a nervous breakdown for a month resulting from overwork on his experiments in the speed of light.

Until a week ago, there were indications that the former head department of physics would rally, but he was stricken with a partial stroke which paralyzed his limbs, and from that time gradually weakened.

JOHNSON URGES PHILIPPINES' INDEPENDENCE

Restriction of Immigration of Mexicans to U. S. Also Advocated

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—(UP)—The Philippines should be granted independence and immigration of Mexicans to California should be restricted as the first steps in solving the Pacific Coast's immigration problems, United States Senator Hiram Johnson believes.

These problems, however, will not be solved "so long as powerful business interests do not want them solved," the senator told the San Francisco Commonwealth club last night.

"Congressional restriction of Mexican immigration into California is blocked by chambers of commerce, farm and industrial groups in the southern part of the state who profit by cheap labor," he said. "The number of Mexicans in the United States has increased from 103,000 in 1900 to more than 2,000,000 today."

"You don't have to convince congress that this demands a remedy and you don't have to convince me. Convince Southern California business men."

"As to the Filipino problem, many find it outrageous that we would deny entry to natives of a country over which we hold tutelage. I confess that this view appeals to me."

"If Filipino independence is proposed in the next congress I shall vote for it, because the United States navy has been rendered incapable of defending the islands. We should be ready to defend all our possessions, and if we are unable we should withdraw."

Although describing himself as a "strict restrictionist," Senator Johnson saw immigration as a great human problem "wherein we should not separate mother from child, husband from wife." He predicted that the next congress would reduce present quotas by 90 percent.

EIGHT MEN INJURED IN GAS EXPLOSION

SACRAMENTO, May 8.—(UP)—Eight men were reported recovering today from injuries received in a gas explosion that wrecked a downtown jewelry store here and damaged two adjoining buildings.

Most of the injured were standing on the sidewalk outside the building, where 40 feet of walkway were torn up. Mel Allen, 35, Charles Darwin, 23, and Barrow Scott, 30 were the most seriously injured.

The explosion, which caused damage estimated at $30,000, took place while workmen were repairing a leaking main.

Japanese Aviator Awaits Favorable Weather for Hop

NEMURO, Japan, May 8.—(UP)—Seiji Yoshihara, young Japanese aviator awaited favorable weather today to continue his 6283-mile flight from Japan to the United States.

Yoshihara took off from here in all metal seaplane yesterday on the third lap of the flight but was forced back by adverse flying conditions. Owing to the hazardous nature of the territory he must cross, Yoshihara must rely on good weather to assure safe passage. He plans to reach San Francisco the latter part of this month.

REFERENDUM TO BE ASKED BY SENATOR

Attorney General Decides Legislature Has Right To Provide For Vote

FILES ARE JAMMED

Governor Rolph Declares He May Call Special Session During Summer

SACRAMENTO, May 8.—(UP)—The wet and dry fight in the state legislature reached its climax today.

Marshaling the same forces who aided him in withdrawing the bill from committee, Senator Thomas A. Maloney, San Francisco, prepared to ask for a vote on the proposed referendum on the eighteenth amendment at the 1932 general election.

Files of senate and assembly were hopelessly jammed today—the last day either house is privileged to work on its own bills. By agreement, the final week of each legislative session is devoted to passing bills of the other house.

Attorney General U. S. Webb has ruled that the legislature has power to provide for a referendum by the people on a vote on the prohibition issue, Senator Maloney announced.

Such a vote, it was explained, would have no statutory standing, but would merely be an expression of the people on a public issue.

Governor Rolph made his first public commitment in favor of a special legislative session on the state's water problems at a dinner dance given to members of the assembly last night by Speaker Edgar C. Levey, San Francisco.

"Everywhere I have been in California in recent weeks I have been asked: 'What is the legislature going to do about water?'" the governor said.

"I realize that the time is all too short for a thorough consideration of the problem at this late hour, but something must be done."

"Farm lands all over the state are burning up for lack of water. California is facing the greatest drought in all history. It is up to the legislature to meet this question honestly and fairly, and for that reason it may be necessary for us to meet together again some time later this year and work out a great problem of water development that will benefit us all."

SEEK BANDIT AFTER L. A. GIRL ATTACKED

LOS ANGELES, May 8.—(UP)—Miss Helen V. Parish, 22, walked into a cafe early today and collapsed after notifying police by telephone that she had been attacked.

She told police she had been out riding with H. F. Utley last night when they were held up by a bandit who forced her companion from the car after robbing him of $14.

The bandit then drove the machine to an isolated part of Inglewood and criminally attacked her, she said.

Head-Rutan Water Bill Dropped By Ted Craig Today

Determined opposition to the Head-Rutan Orange County Water Saving and Replenishment district bill and necessity of securing united support for which has just been presented by the board of engineers, has resulted in decision of Assemblyman Ted Craig to drop the measure.

A telegram to the Register today from Craig declared that passage of the measure at this time might defeat the water program, which he regarded as too vital to endanger, and that consequently he was tabling the bill.

Text of the telegram follows: "County unity necessary to carry through water program. Passage of water bill now might defeat same. Too vital to endanger. Am tabling bill hoping our problems can be worked out locally. (Signed) Ted Craig."

POPULAR SANTA ANA MUSICAL GROUPS PRESENT PROGRAM IN AUDITORIUM OF HIGH SCHOOL

By RUTH ANDREWS

Continuing the veritable feast of melody which has prevailed here during the current week's celebration of the National Music Week festival, three of Santa Ana's major and best-beloved musical organizations were heard in concert by a large and appreciative audience in the high school auditorium last evening, during a program of strictly symphonic nature presented by the Santa Ana Municipal Band under the direction of D. C. Cianfoni.

Co-operating with the band and offering specially selected song-groups were those two popular choral organizations, the Cantando club, male chorus of 60 voices, directed by Leon Eckles, and the American Legion Auxiliary Chorus, directed by Cecile Willits.

The band opened with the vehement chords of the "Song of the Marching Men," recently written by the contemporary American composer, Henry Hadley. Vitality and freshness of conception characterized the harmonic pattern of the martial score, which was read with stirring emphasis.

The familiar overture from Florentino's universally favored "Martha" followed and was warmly received. The work, whose popularity never wanes, was read with delicacy and a feeling for vivid contrasts of tempo and shading. Gradual crescendos and challenging staccato effects were especially clean-cut, emphasis marking final repetition of the main melodic theme.

That inspirational gem of musical literature, Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony," one of the most famous of all symphonic masterpieces, was interpreted by Cianfoni with an intuitive feeling for the wealth of melodic beauty and poetry which contribute to the immortality of this work of genius.

Composed originally for orchestral performance, it was interesting to follow the interchange of instrumentation necessitated by the arrangement of the famous score for band use, with woodwinds achieving the effect of strings. Subtle tone effects were glowingly conspired.

"The Scissors Grinder" (Jungst) made a novel interlude, sung without accompaniment, tenors carrying the melody, lower voices chanting in harmony. Perhaps most enjoyable of all was the club's rendition of the "Chorus of Returning Pilgrims" from "Tannhauser," voices blending colorfully, and raised to effective climax in this familiar Wagnerian classic. Continued applause finally brought its repetition.

One of the most popular selections played by the band during the evening was the arrangement of themes from Verdi's "Traviata," given in response to many requests. Dramatic crescendos of the introduction were succeeded by frenzied measures of the gypsy dance, but without doubt the most enjoyable of all was Cianfoni's solo trombone work during the latter half of the arrangement, the versatile leader's solo work ever a real joy to local audiences.

Appealingly flower-like in varicolored evening gowns, shading from palest pastels through flame to lacy black, the American Legion Chorus, directed by Cecile Willits and accompanied by Ruth Armstrong, again scored a warm triumph. Their selection of graceful lyrics, "Unlil" (Sanderson-Armstrong) and "Smilin' Thru" were offered with charm, "I Love You, California," a spirited encore. Continued recalls finally brought the repetition of "Smilin' Thru."

An effective finale to the evening's program was found in the band's rendition of the brilliant overture from Mozart's "Magic Flute," the famous composer's last work. Buoyant freshness and allegro passage-work of this classic demanded well-coordinated instrumentation, closing with a vivid finale.

Tonight's program at the auditorium will feature glee clubs and orchestras from six different high schools of the county, including Brea-Olinda, Garden Grove, Orange, Fullerton, Huntington Beach and Santa Ana. Tomorrow night, as final tribute to Music Week, local theaters will feature different choral groups in special musical acts.

Earl Ruddy, secretary-manager of the Santa Ana Business Men's association, today was appointed chairman of the 10th division of the National Retail Credit association, which includes California, Nevada and Arizona.

The appointment came in the form of a letter to Ruddy from Charles M. Reid, of Denver, chairman of the service division of the national organization.

Ruddy will succeed J. H. Van De Water, of Los Angeles, who has resigned.

Mayor John Knox and Mrs. Knox left yesterday for a several days' trip to Palo Alto, where they will visit their daughter, a student in Stanford University.

The couple made the trip via automobile and expect to return here over the week end.

STANTON TRIO PARALYZED BY POISON BOOZE

Following a report that Lawrence M. Ridenour, well known Stanton service station owner, was at his home paralyzed from drinking poison liquor, Sheriff's officers today were seeking two Mexicans, who also are reported to be seriously ill from drinking the same kind of liquor.

A report of the Ridenour case was on file in the sheriff's office today, and stated that Ridenour was unable to answer questions asked by officers concerning where he obtained the liquor.

Ridenour shot and killed Harvey Counts, in his service station on September 22, 1930, and later was dismissed of a murder charge in the justice court here when he was able to prove that he retreated as far as he could before Counts, who was advancing on him.

The liquor, part of which was obtained by Officers Bells and Nicholson, has been sent to the Orange County hospital for analysis, as part of the sheriff's of-

DR. CARL KNOPE GIVES ADDRESS YORBA LINDA

YORBA LINDA, May 8.—"Boys as a rule try to pattern themselves after their fathers," Dr. Carl Knopf, professor in the department of religious education at the University of Southern California, told members of the Yorba Linda Parent-Teacher association, at the annual father's night meeting Wednesday evening in the Women's clubhouse.

"There are not two children exactly alike, therefore each child must be treated differently," Dr. Knopf said.

"In the olden days, children were thought of only as essential for the work which they could do. A girl or boy who went to college was thought of as something extraordinary. Parents should cooperate to the fullest extent with teachers, and it is not enough to merely gather together once a year in a meeting such as we have tonight. It is so easy to say to the child, 'Go and do this' but how much easier and better for the child, if we would say, 'Come, let us do this.' Here we are as one, not different creeds."

The speaker was introduced by the Rev. G. G. Ralston, a harmonica trio, composed of Billy Burchitt, Lloyd Whipp and Norma Foss, played "Springtime in the Rockies." Mrs. J. Francis Addy sang "Danny Boy," followed by a violin quartet, composed of Ralph Green, Robert Townsend, Simon Claus and Marion Naid, who played "March Triumphal," "A Fairy Tale," "On Wings of Song" and "A Fairy Dance."

1834 Document In School Room

ORANGE, May 8.—An interesting document has been placed in the class room of Miss Avis Middleton at the Orange union high school and is the property of Helen Campbell, one of the pupils of her class.

The document is a land grant given to a direct maternal ancestor of Miss Campbell's and was issued in 1834 by Andrew Jackson, then president of the United States, and is signed by his secretary, A. J. Donihon.

LAGUNA BEACH, May 8.—Enough signatures have been secured to warrant calling the election to form a high school district and to elect trustees, George B. Dunham, clerk of the Laguna grammar school board reports. Petitions asking that an election be called were mailed Thursday morning to Superintendent of Schools Ray Adkinson. The petition is signed by heads of families. The one asking separation from Tustin union high school district was signed by voters.

The election to be held is not to be held to build, but merely to form a district and to elect trustees.

Moore which would result in narrowing the foot of Ocean avenue, was turned down by the city council Wednesday without dissenting vote what the protest filed by more than 50 property owners was heeded, the chamber of commerce was allotted $200 to be used in financing publicity for the summer courses to be given here and life guards recommended by the Red Cross were appointed. Councilman Champion moved that the protest be allowed, Councilman McMillan seconding the motion.

Andrew S. Hall urged that the council support the protest to bring summer courses for adults and for teachers here, Miss Jean Stovel, who has been best active explaining the purpose and method in more detail. COUNTY PEACE OFFICERS HEAR TALK BY WEST

Z. B. West, Santa Ana attorney, was the featured speaker at the regular meeting of the Orange County Peace Officers' association held Wednesday night in the American Legion hall in Anaheim. West stressed the importance of the officer who is called to the scene of a crime to get every detail of the crime that is possible, declaring that a clue that might seem trivial and unimportant might be the cause of bringing the instigator of the crime to justice and secure conviction. He also spoke on the matter of search warrants, stating that it was of extreme importance that every officer should know just how far he should go in searching houses, property or the person of suspects. He explained that in the case of searching a house for liquor it was necessary to obtain a sworn affidavit of the sale of liquor at the place and then go before a magistrate and obtain a search warrant. The warrant must specify whether the search is to be made at night or in the daytime. He also stressed the importance of co-operation between peace officers and the district attorney's office. The musical portion of the program was presented by the Anaheim Conservatory of Music. Eileen and Jack Warton played piano solos, Dale Twigg played a saxophone solo, accompanied by Lillian Christensen. Miss Christensen also played two piano solos. Adeline Frey, soprano, sang a group of numbers accompanied by her teacher, Mrs. Anna Siegel. Vladimir Lenski, violinist, presented two numbers for the group.

Mohen was introduced by Harry D. Edwards. Mohen gave an outline of his platform and, if elected, will direct all his attention to the cause of the disabled comrades. Mrs. Mohen claims Santa Ana as her home, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Witt, 1319 North Main street.

To show the esteem in which members hold Past Commander H. O. Rasmussen, the chapter presented him with the official past commander's pendant for the accomplishments attained during the year of his administration. The presentation was made by Senior Past Commander L. A. Riehl, who gave an outline of the chapter since its inception some four years ago.

Arrangements were completed for the participation of the state convention at Santa Monica, May 14, 15 and 16, when 10 local members will represent the Orange county unit.

STORY BY HAI COCHRAN — PICTURES BY KNICK

The long canal wound 'round and 'round and soon the happy "Tins" found that there were many things to see of interest to them all. As Clowney leaned far out to eye another boat, just passing by, wee Scouty shouted, "Hey! Look out, or you will take a fall. 'Oh, I'm not scared. I'll hang on tight. Imagine what a funny sight I'd be if I should topple in, and have to swim to shore. As long as this craft stays afloat I'm going to stick right to the boat. I've had a lot of tumbles and I don't want any more."

Along the canal shore there stood a lot of houses, propped on wood. "This must be just like Venice," exclaimed Coppy, with a grin. "I wonder what the homes are like. When we're back on the shore, let's hike down to this spot and peek at one and maybe walk right in."

The Travel Man said, "You have been in Chinese homes, so why go in the one you're looking at right now? I think they're all alike. When we get back to shore, my son, I have a plan for other fun. We'll leave the boat and start out when you're ready for a hike."

In about an hour they went ashore and walked back into town once more. Two Chinese men came down the street and Clowney cried, "Look there! Each one has poles upon his back. One follows in the other's track." And then the Tins noticed that the poles held one large chair.

"Twas covered, like a little coop. Wee Scouty let out one big whoop and said, "Come on, we'll ride in that. They'll let us, if we pay." The Travel Man said, "That was what I'd planned for you. As like as not, you'll love it." So the bunch hopped in and soon were on their way.

HIGH SCHOOL LEADS

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—(INS)—That high school students do better work in college than the students who have come from preparatory schools is indicated in the annual spring scholarship records issued at Yale. While forty-eight percent of Yale's entering class are from preparatory schools, and 22 percent from high schools, the high school students have filled thirty percent of the places on the Yale honor rolls as compared with thirteen percent by the prep-school students.

Farm Advisor To Talk at Anaheim

Harold E. Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor, will be the featured speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Anaheim Farm center to be held May 12 at 6:30 p. m. in the cafeteria of the Anaheim Union High school. He will talk on the "Conservative Costs of Citrus Production in Orange County, based on Five Year's Cost Studies." Dinner will be served in the cafeteria previous to the business session, it was announced by L. P. Holderman, president of the center.

GIVE PROGRAM AT LOCAL HOSPITAL

St. Joseph's hospital received a musical program Wednesday in connection with the Music Week celebration.

The Phi Zeta musical sorority quartet, George Evans, violinist, and D. C. Cianfoni took part in the varied program which was greatly appreciated by the patients and also the Sisters of the institution. Florence Tonier, soprano, gave two beautiful songs "Wake Up" by Phillips and "I'll Sing You a Song" by Anna Pricilla Risher. Margaret Rust, contralto, sang "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" by Herbert, accompanied by Allen L. A. i. r. George Evans, violinist, gave "Cavatino" by Raff and "Estrellita," accompanied by Adelaide Probst, D. C. Cianfoni gave "Ave Maria" by Gounod, and "Infinitus" from Rossini's famous "Stabat Mater."

The Phi Zeta sorority quartet, composed of Pearl Hyde, Edna Biehan, Margaret Rust and Blanche Owens, sang "Lassie O' Mine," "Neopolitan Nights" and "The Little Old Garden" by Hewitt. After the program the musicians were entertained by the Sisters. Another program was furnished at the Bank of Italy by Lorene Croddy, Duncan Harnois, D. C. Cianfoni and Allen L. A. i. r.

NEW PLAN FOR INSURANCE ON SCHOOLS URGED

Possibility that city school insurance may be handled through a city association of insurance agents was suggested to the Santa Ana board of education Wednesday night by Business Manager George Newcom, who advised that organization of such an association was contemplated.

Under such an arrangement city insurance agents who were not members of the board of fire underwriters, and whose rates are considerably lower, would be allocated approximately 15 per cent of the total business.

Newcom advised that under the present insurance schedules there were approximately 73 per cent coverage on high school buildings, but that when the appraised value was reduced 25 per cent in accordance with present lower construction costs, the coverage amounted to 90.93 per cent. He suggested a reduction in coverage to 70 per cent of the present building costs of replacement.

Insurance premiums paid last year amounted to $7000, the board was advised. Differences in rates between board agents, non-board agents and mutual companies were great, Newcom said. He advised the respective rates were 95 cents; 73 cents and 50 cents.

A total of $191,000 in policies will expire June 1, and Newcom declared he believed there would be ample coverage if the entire amount were permitted to lapse.

URGE LANDSCAPING AT LOCAL SCHOOL

Consideration of a landscaping program for the Frances Willard Junior High school building and grounds was taken up by the board of education at its meeting Wednesday night.

A comprehensive plan was presented to the board by W. H. Blanding, of the Blanding Nurseries, which involved a total expenditure of approximately $8,800. Other work which would have to be done, such as grading and tennis court installation, would bring the total to about $11,000 Blanding estimated. A plan also was submitted by the Adkinson Nursery.

Suggestion that the work be done by the school system gardening was made by Assistant Superintendent Percy Davis, who suggested considerable saving might be effected this way Dr. Margaret Baker asked that an estimate be secured from a Pasadena landscape architect.

Court Notes

Charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, J. L. Mesh, arrested several days ago, was fined $200 by Judge J. W. Mitchell, in police court Wednesday, on a plea of guilty.

W. E. Ward, arrested on a drunk charge, was fined $15 in Judge Mitchell's police court Wednesday.

C. H. Russell, charged with speeding, was fined $10.

WELLS WINS AT DELHI

Stars Play North Long Beach

EARL MORRILL TO HURL BOWL GAME TONIGHT

Earl Morrill will start his first game for Santa Ana tonight since joining the Southern California night baseball champions in an even-tempered trade of pitchers which sent Mearl Yoeul to Garden Grove several weeks ago.

Morrill will be on the firing line against North Long Beach, the club that got a franchise in the National Night league when La Habra went asunder after playing one game.

This will be the first start the Stars have made in the Bowl for two weeks, wet weather and road trips having kept them away from the home folk since the Garden Grove contest of April 25.

Assemblying the best material available on the spur of the minute, North Long Beach naturally made anything but an impressive showing in its first few games but, now that he has had time for some jockeying and maneuvering, Manager Claude Anderson is able to put on the field a fairly representative organization. Early this week, the Northsiders held Olive 3-0, a creditable effort.

Lackaye Assigns Pitchers
With three games falling due in rapid succession next week, George Lackaye, Santa Ana manager, is glad he has three experienced pitchers on his roster. After the North Long Beach affair, the Stars play at Fullerton Tuesday, Anaheim here Thursday and Westminster here Friday. Lackaye counts on using Joe Ochso against Fullerton and Westminster, Joe Cornelius in the important Anaheim set-to.

With no immediate changes contemplated, the usual Santa Ana lineup is scheduled to work on the tallenders tonight. "Benny" Wilcox, night ball's finest catcher, will be a steady influence for Morrill who was a bit wild in his one-inning introduction several weeks ago. Ed Daley, Darwin Scott, Leavitt Daley and "Memphis" Hill will be in the infield and Randolph Bell, Wayne Nelson and "Roe" Merrill in the outfield.

Boyd Works For Visitors
Eddie Boyd, a veteran who will be remembered by the city's pioneer night ball fans, is scheduled to hurl for North Long Beach, although Anderson has a couple of other chuckers, Lower and Markley, on his staff. Boyd pitched for Peck's Market in a Santa Ana City League several years ago when Lincoln field was the home park. Back of Boyd will be a team recruited from Long Beach municipal leagues.

The Anaheim-Huntington Skirmish
The Anaheim-Huntington Skirmish really features tonight's card in the National Night League. The Valencia travel to Huntington Beach and will find trouble in Howard Morning can pitch nine innings as he did the first five against Santa Ana. Whittier is favored over Westminster but the Aviators are troublesome, especially on their home lot, and an upset there would not jar the league apart. Frank Pennhall's gang has made every one of its games interesting. Fullerton invades Long Beach and Garden Grove goes to Olive.

FAST FIELD IN PRELIMINARIES FOR PREP MEET

High school athletic talent will be on exhibition in abundant quantities tomorrow when preliminaries are held at the Los Angeles Coliseum for the annual Southern California interscholastic championship track meet.

Several hundred preppers, representing the cream of the year's athletic crop, will gather for the qualifying tests, the list of entrants including four Santa Anans—Captain Paul Jacques, James Daneri, Allen Kidder and Lawrence Lutz.

Six others, Walt Hendrie, Frank Ronsholt, Malcolm Richards, Leonard Lockhart, Larry Velarde, Dick Foster and Don Boyd will compete in Class B and C Events. Captain Jacques, winner of the high jump in the Coast Preparatory league meet with a record-breaking leap of 6 feet, 2 1/16 inches, is the Saint considered the best of qualifying for the big meet finals Saturday-week. Daneri and Lutz will throw the discus and the javelin. Kidder will run the 120-yard high hurdles.

A survey of the championship meets of the various leagues shows that one of the finest fields in history will be battling for places in the finals May 16. Comparative performances by event winners follows:

SOPHS. JUNIORS PLAY 0-0 TIE IN GRID GAME

Coach "Tex" Oliver was exactly nowhere today in his round-robin of interclass football games, calculated to determine the 1931 Santa Ana high school spring football championship, because his sophomores and his juniors played a 0 to 0 tie in the first game of the series at Poly field yesterday.

Both teams threatened to score twice, but in the final analysis had stronger defense than offense and the 15-yard line was about as far as either backfield could penetrate. The sophomores showing was particularly impressive, pre-game dope having installed juniors as heavy favorites.

Ever alert to the possibility of uncovering unknowns in spring practice, Coach Oliver thought he discovered varsity material in the middle of both lines. Don Martin, guard; Jimmy Klepper and Fred Devinney, tackles, and Gerald Crawford, end, played especially well in the sophomores' forward wall, and such men as Earl Halderman, center; LeRoy De Smet, guard; Quimby Wallace and "Bud" Boyle, tackle, and Winfred Heas, end, were big factors in the juniors' defense.

Another player on whom Oliver cast covetous eyes was Earl Harris, 180-pound transfer from Abilene, Tex., high school, who at end for the sophs shaped up as possible first string material. Reminded of the classic tackle who opened up here from the Lone Star state in 1924.

Best in the sophomore backfield were Herb Duncan, 170-pound full-back up from Julia Lathrop junior high school, and "Savoldi" Conrad, quarterback, who looked like a good prospect. Duncan plunged well and backed up the line even better. Conrad's passing and tackling impressed Oliver, too.

Outstanding for the juniors, perhaps on the field, was Herb Mayer, 132-pound back who carried the ball like a back of great experience, especially in running back points. He looked fast and shifty. Sammy Tucker, quarter, did a good job of operating the junior team. Cochems and Mitchell also caught Oliver's eye.

Halderman's work at center probably overshadowed that of any other line man. Oliver thinks he will be a first flight candidate for center, a position wide open this year.

The next interclass contest is scheduled for Tuesday between the seniors and sophomores. Other games will depend on the outcome of it.

RENO, Nev., May 8.—(INS)—Paolino Uzcudun, the Basque woodchopper, has agreed to meet Max Baer, California heavyweight in a bout here July 4, it was announced today. It is understood, however, that the Spaniard has not definitely settled on the terms.

"GATE" WON HIM SUIT
PITTSBURGH, May 8.—Barney Dreyfuss, head of the Pittsburgh Pirates, once won a $150 suit of clothes from a friend who said Barney couldn't fill Forbes field when it was constructed in 1909. Dreyfuss was not satisfied with the seating capacity of Exposition park so he built Forbes field with a seating capacity of 25,000. The stands were filled five times in the first week.

CHICAGO, May 8.—(UP)—Runners that an attempt will be made to have the final Olympic track and field trials transferred from Chicago to the Pacific Coast caused sports leaders today to prepare for a battle before the American Olympic committee which meets here a week from today.

DARK DAYS
Things look dark for racing in 1931. Governor Hughes chased the horses from New York. Illinois took a similar action. The gates of the finest racing plants in the country were being closed by disapproval. Even in Kentucky the sport was threatened. Colonel

DID YOU KNOW THAT—
The Robins didn't miss old Adolpho Luque . . . who was out with a sore thumb . . . any more than they would miss their arms and legs . . . Uncle Robbie says a rainy day is a big winning streak for his boys . . . The new press box in the Polo Grounds is suspended from the balcony, high up from the diamond . . . The baseball writers and players used to talk and argue about scoring in the old box which was on the ground floor back of the plate . . . Loudspeakers have been installed in many of the big league parks and they are beating the radio announcers to the punch . . . a few seconds after the radio listener hears the loud speaker say, "Pennock now pitching for the Yankees," he hears the broadcaster at the mike say the same thing . . . loudspeaker and the mike ought to get together and hearse their acts.

THE OL' KUNNEL
Back in 1875 a kid 14 years old got a thrill he remembers to this day. The kid was Colonel Matt J. Winn and the thrill was the first Kentucky Derby ever run.

He saw Aristides take the lead at the barrier's click, force the fierce pace all the way, shake off every challenger and thunder under the wire a winner. His boyish voice joined in the cheer that went up from the local crowd—and all that was 56 years ago.

Through all the years since the 14-year-old Matt Winn sat in his dad's grocery wagon and saw him born on the turf a racing tradition that was to become dear to an American sports-loving people, the Derby has been the race closest to the ol' kunnel's heart.

When the blue-bloods line up at Churchill Downs this May 16, Colonel Matt Winn will be there to see his 57th Derby. The Ol' Kunnel runs the Derby now.

And when they come tearing down the home stretch, the voice of a 70-year-old man will help to swell the cheer that thousands of watchers send up in tribute. Great old fellow, that Kunnel Winn—I hope he has a winning ticket.

FIRST CLASS FIGHTING MAN
The Kunnel has a round, affable face, with an Irish-titled nose and a twinkling Irish eye. But he is a fighting man with a fighting heart. A battler!

Around 1900 racing was in an unhealthy condition in this country. Almost single-handed he fought the Western Jockey club, a group that dominated racing in the west to the point of utter monopoly. In the end he won the appointment of a racing commissioner in Kentucky, forced the Jockey club to capitulate and, in 1907, merged the western club with his own organization into the Louisville Racing association.

When the New York Jockey club, led by August Belmont, refused to admit James Butler and his Empire City track into the sunlight of competition, Butler called on Winn. Did the Kunnel beat Belmont? Well, eight months after Butler asked Winn's help, a running-horse meeting at Empire City with Jockey club approval was definitely announced.

A turf war threatened in New Orleans. The Kunnel stopped it.

SANTA ANA JUNIOR COLLEGE NINE PLAYS LOS ANGELES AT POLY FIELD TOMORROW

LOS ANGELES, May 8.—(INS)—Coach Vitt, manager of the Hollywood Stars, today was more or less battered following a flat fight here last night with Julian Wera, third baseman for the San Francisco Seals. The trouble started, it was said, when Vitt, on the coaching line, began "to ride" Wera. Both men were ousted from the game after they were separated.

VETERAN GIVES SMITH LESSON IN BOXING ART

In boxing, as well as baseball, you can't hit 'em when you can't see 'em.

"Tiger" Don Smith, an average welterweight, discovered that at Delhi last night when he had enough brass to climb in the same ring with "Bermondsey" Billy Wells, one of the cleverest boxers of the age.

As was expected, Wells won with miles to spare. Giving Smith a boxing seminar the young man will remember painfully for several days, and casually the rest of his life, the systematic Britisher finally took off the drapes in the seventh round and stopped Smith as he could have done much earlier had he felt the urge.

Smith Outclassed
It was a technical knockout, Referee Steve Nyland disqualifying Smith when it was obvious the outclassed youth didn't have a ghost of a show in there with an old campaigner who had fought the Shades, the Malones, the Latzows and the Mitchells in their prime, and outlasted all of them but Shade.

Smith is still wondering how eight men could be in the ring all at one time when he was taking 'em, and yet how nobody at all was doing the swinging. Don thought he was fighting a regiment. He was that badly outclassed. He hasn't hit Wells yet.

Every round was the same. Wells hit Smith. Smith hit back at all 'em, and yet how nobody at all was doing the swinging. Don thought he was fighting a regiment. He was that badly outclassed. He hasn't hit Wells yet.

Mays Wins Semi-Final
Johnny Mays and Bob Douglas, curtain-raiser boys elevated to the semi-windup spot when Jimmy Alvarado and Don Reyes failed to show, offered a clumsy exhibition. Mays appearing the verdict in four rounds.

Referee Nyland booted one when he called the Eddie Piper-Tommy Neal bout a draw. Piper won the last round when Neal tired but Neal had a comfortable edge in the first three and deserved the nod.

Herb Colman, a rough soldier, stopped Vic McNeal in less than a minute.

Kid Mexie and Jimmy Camp stole the show in a four-rounder that just bristled with action. Camp won.

MIRACLES OF SPORTS - - - By ROBERT EDGREN

JOHNSON OUIITS FOOTBALL POST AT FULLERTON

Ernest Y. Johnson, coach of Fullerton's "Big Red Team" for the last three years, has resigned, and will return to Huntington Park high school as head football coach, it was learned here today.

Johnson came to Fullerton in the fall of 1928 from Huntington Park when "Shorty" Smith resigned the football post there to take a similar job at Brea-Olinda. Going back to Huntington Park, Johnson succeeds John B. Gough, recently appointed mentor at Redlands university.

During his first year at Fullerton Johnson led the Indians to an Orange County league championship without a single defeat. Anaheim was the only county rival to score against them and Covina the only team to defeat them in the 1928 season to a Southern California playoff game.

The following season Fullerton took the foothill league without a defeat and lost the Southern California championship only after outplaying, out-generaling and outchugging Santa Barbara. A fluke C.I.F. playoff rule for games resulting in ties cost Fullerton the victory and a Southern California championship.

During the past season, the Indians did not have such a successful season as in the past, as the competition of the Coast Preparatory league, together with the lack of speedy backs, cost Fullerton many of her games.

Johnson plans to direct the Indians in a spring training scheduled as he had announced before his resignation.

His successor has not been selected.

WEST WINDS Here and There in Local Sport By EDDIE WEST

Astute John Wilcox, business manager of Santa Ana's Stars, should either dust off his datebook or his thinking cap.

He is getting the town in wrong.

He scheduled the Stars for an exhibition game at Arlington Wednesday, neglected to tell Manager Lackaye or his players. Arlington advertised the appearance of the Southern California champions widely, attracted a capacity crowd which waited until 9 o'clock before it left the park with dark thoughts about Santa Ana and everything connected with it.

Earlier in the season, Wilcox announced a game here with Poloma, discovered later that Poloma had long before scheduled a contest that night with Olive.

National Night leaguers have completed only one-eighth of their season but already it is quite obvious the race is between Santa Ana, Anaheim, Olive and Whittier. The Stars are the team to beat with Whittier most likely to do it, if it is done.

Slower to start but quicker to finish, the American Night league opens its 1931 schedule tomorrow with Riverside at San Bernardino. Colton at Redlands, Rialto at Corona and Arlington at Pomona.

Inland experts agree it's a two-way race between Colton and Riverside again, with Colton conceding a razor's edge.

Santa Ana Country club golfers are tremendously considerate of each other's feelings. In tournament play, no matter how badly one may be defeated, the press gets the score one up, 2 and 1 or, at worst, 3 and 2. It looks better in print that way than 9 and 8, 7 and 6, or 5 and 4.

Maybe big Jim Daneri, Santa Ana high school's man of never ending promise, has found his true event—the javelin. Daneri has been good in 220, 440, hurdles, shot, discus and broad jump but not a champion. Then with but a week's practice he flung the javelin 153 feet. He hopes to win the event in the Southern California meet.

With malice aforethought, I am deliberately going to spoil the evening's cake and cookies for Gerald Allen Oliver, the well known Texan.

"This is a mighty tough assignment in itself, they say, but considering the fact the Santa Ana knowledge foundry has a much smaller enrollment than Poly and San Diego, they claim that makes their case all the stronger.

"They are right about the enrollment angle. But permit us to reflect that the Saints, for some reason, have never been handicapped in the past as far as football strength is concerned.

"Indeed, Santa Ana always bobs up with excellent material, and plenty of it. That gang that came to Wilson high for the opener last fall looked like Coxy's army on dress parade.

"We don't believe the Saints have any beef coming whatsoever. They have always been able to take remarkable care of themselves heretofore."

Evidently Columnist Swain has forgotten the root that emanated from his precinct last year when Woodrow Wilson, a Long Beach school, was scheduled to play San Diego and Santa Ana on successive Saturdays. Yet Santa Ana's enrollment is 200 less than Wilson's.

Night baseball gossip:
"Chico" Sabella is with Blabbe in the Arizona State league. If he draws his release he has agreed to join Anaheim . . . Billy Norton, with La Habra last summer will play for Anaheim, too. If he doesn't make the grade at Nogales . . . Arch Hawkins has signed with Fullerton. . . There is no truth whatever in reports that Santa Ana has refused Phil Schrott his release, according to Manager George Lackaye. The Stars would like Schrott to remain here but if he can better himself elsewhere he is free to do so, Lackaye said. . . Joe Ochso plans to enter the University of Washington in the fall. His buddy is "Whitney" Martin, the Husky quarterback from Anaheim. . . "Slim" Jackson is now managing the Fullerton club. He is No. 3 this season. . . Westminster and Long Beach both have clubs calculated to cause overconfidence contenders lots of grief. . . The Santa Ana-Olive game of May 19, scheduled at Olive, may be played here because Olive's handbox park is too small to accommodate the crowd that will want to see the leaders battle.

SEARS GIVES TROPHY
BOSTON, May 8.—Eleanora Sears, Boston society sportswoman and internationally-known long-distance pedestrian, has donated a special trophy for the third annual National A. A. U. 50,000-meter walking championship to be held at Franklin Park here May 16.

INSTALLMENT 29

"Well," said Dan, "I'll be back presently with the girl's record, and then—"

"Out of the darkness into the sunlight, Mac."

"Well, the next one I find in the darkness will stay there," the chief growled.

"The absence of the capable Lanny acted as a constant reminder to Dr. Stephen Burt of his sole experiment to date in a case of dual personality. He yearned with an alert scientific yearning to get to work on Penelope Gatlin, and when Dan McNamara appeared at the office one day, he saw by the satisfied smirk on the McNamara countenance that all had gone well.

"Let me see the documents," Stephen demanded.

McNamara handed them over.

"Well, you've done your full duty and have kept the police of various cities busy for a few days," said Stephen. "What do you hear from Lanny?"

"She'll be home next week. The skin graft on the girl's nose was a complete success."

"And how does the girl feel about it?"

"She's crazy about her new nose and spends hours examining it in a hand mirror."

Stephen smiled. "She would!"

"Lanny says the girl's been her real self more than half the time since that first look."

"She would be. And now I'm going to add to her happiness by sending her this record, which I shall supplement with a report of my own on her case. She'll study it, and in this convincing proof that she is not what Mrs. Merton told her she was, she'll probably get well. These cases are simple, Dan. All you have to do is to discover the cause and remove it. Nature does the rest. She will have no more rebellious thoughts because the despot can do her no further harm. Her black moods of depression will not come again; she is organically and mentally sound, the product of a sound ancestry on both sides of her family."

"But she knows she was an inmate of San Quentin. She'll remember she was a thief."

"She will, of course, feel great shape when fully restored to her normal personality. In her other personality, with her acquired instincts of morality and convention smothered in her subconscious mind, she has, of course, no sense of remorse or shame. I think that when I have explained this to her she will understand just what her mental condition was. And her fear that the world will discover her sorry record will, I feel certain, be alleviated by her knowledge that it would be impossible for anybody who knew her as saddle-nosed Nance Belden to recognize her as good-looking Penelope Gatlin."

"Well, all I've got to say, you fella m'lud," the admiring McNamara declared, "is that you're one hell of a smart man!"

Some two weeks later, Lanny walked in on Stephen. "Well," he declared acidly, "you've certainly taken your time about getting back on the job."

"You're looking mighty particular, Lanny," he observed. "Happy?"

"Stevie, dear. I never knew there was such happiness in the world."

"Where's Penelope?"

"She's gone back to Paris—on a new passport."

"Well, well, well," Stephen chided her, "tell me things."

"Stevie, she's as lovely as a May morning."

"And the operation?"

"A phenomenal success. Of course," Lanny added, "she could never stand a sock on the nose."

"What's she going to do in Paris?"

"Close out her apartment and dismiss her servants."

"And coming back to San Francisco?"

Lanny nodded. "How do you stand Miss Ordway, Stevie?"

"Rather well, I'm sorry to say. She's very competent and much more tactful than you."

"And do you want me back, darling?" she queried.

"There's not much to be said for a compliment. Of course I do, but—it isn't necessary. You could come in once a week—"

"Not for a great many weeks, Stevie."

He glanced up at her sharply. "How come, Lanny?"

Lanny's face the color of an old rose. "I'm going to have a baby."

"Of course," Lanny said presently, "you'll be the baby's godfather?"

He nodded. Of course.

Three months passed—to Stephen Burt remarkable by reason of the fact that Mrs. Rudolph Merton did not call upon him. At last, to satisfy his curiosity, he telephoned Rudolph Merton to ask him how his wife was.

"I don't know," Merton replied complacently. "She's gone."

"Dead?"

"No such luck. She's gone to Southern California to join a new religious sect. A colony on the fringe of the San Bernardino desert with a prophet in command."

"And what are you doing about it, Mr. Merton?" Stephen asked.

"I'm subsidizing the prophet so he'll stay in business ten months longer. Mrs. Merton has deserted me, thank God, but she has to be away a year before I can secure a divorce on the grounds of desertion. The prophet comes high, but I can afford to pay for my fiancée."

"I gather you're not broken-hearted."

"Such sorrow as I feel now would be delirious delight compared with what I'd feel if she came back to me."

"I congratulate you, Mr. Merton. Good-bye and good luck to you. You deserve it."

As Stephen hung up the telephone receiver, chuckling, Miss Ordway brought in his mail. In it he found a registered parcel that had been through the Customs House, with duty prepaid on it. It contained the finest and most expensive combination stop-watch and time-piece he had ever seen, and a note that read:

Dear Doctor Burt:

I know it would not be an fair for me to ask you for a bill for professional services, for I realize that what you did for me was done as one human being to another and quite without thought of financial remuneration. Moreover, I prefer to remain forever your debtor. You will never know what you have done for me. Christ, restoring life to the dead son of the widow of Nain, performed no greater miracle than did you in restoring life and happiness to my dead soul. I would try to thank you if words were not so pitifully inadequate to express the profundity of my gratitude. Will you not please accept the enclosed trifle as a token of that gratitude and add one more debt to those already owed you by me?

It is not easy to learn to live with my secret, now that I have found it out. I am trying to regard the past as one harks back in memory to a very serious illness. Some day, when I have achieved sufficient courage I am curious about my other self—that dark self, evolved from darkness. There are black spots in my life. Perhaps you can fill them in. Perhaps you will not care to, knowing that they are better left blank. I do not think, however, that I was ever terribly wicked. If so, I have no recollection of it.

Your grateful

PENELOPE.

"Old Mother Nature is speaking to Penelope," he soliloquized, and replaced his father's old watch with the one Penelope had sent him.

"Give Nature a chance—give her an even break—and she'll prove herself the greatest physician of all."

Come home and let me iron out the few remaining wrinkles so your life will be as smooth as you could wish. The watch is wonderful. Thanks and I think you are very wonderful too. Love as usual.

STEPHEN.

It occurred to him to tuck that last phrase in for good measure. Love—not merely the love of a man for a woman but the love that is a fine friendship—was, he knew, very necessary to Penelope. She must, he knew, be assured that in all the world somebody really cared. Nobody knew better than he the wreckage that kindness and love denied can make of human lives; never a day passed without leaving him evidence of this.

He was not getting quite his little slice of life. Money, success, the joy of accomplishment, professional standing and the respect of his colleagues, he had, plus some good friends and true.

He decided not to dine alone. It would be far better to drop in unannounced on Lanny and Dan, take pot luck for dinner.

MILK SHOULD BE ADDED TO WAFFLE BATTER GRADUALLY

This Method Insures a Smooth, Light, Lumpless Batter

Every cook knows that it is risky to pour all the milk at once into the flour when making waffles. In spite of vigorous stirring the batter will invariably contain lumps.

Coffee roasted in bulk also involves risk. Even the most skilled operator cannot prevent variation in the roast because the quantity is too large to handle. As a result, some of the coffee berries are overdone and some underdone. Such variation in the roast causes variation in flavor.

Realizing this, Hills Bros., in San Francisco, perfected and patented a process that roasts every coffee berry evenly. By automatic control, only a few pounds at a time pass through the roasters in which heat is also automatically controlled. When the coffee finally leaves the roasters, it is perfectly uniform in color and roast and gives a delicious flavor in the cup that no other coffee can equal.

No matter when or where you buy Hills Bros. Coffee, it is as fresh and complete in its exclusive flavor and aroma as when it came from the roasters. This is because Hills Bros. Coffee is packed in vacuum—a process that takes air, which destroys coffee flavor, from the can. The ordinary air-tight can does not keep coffee fresh. Hills Bros. Coffee is sold everywhere. Ask for it by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can.

Forced to Give Up Contracting

"Three years ago I had a general breakdown from stomach trouble, biliousness and nervousness that finally forced me to quit my contracting business, but Sargon put me back in fine shape. Every trouble I had is gone and I feel like a different man!"

"I also used the Sargon Pills for constipation and they regulated my bowels without the least griping or upsetting effect. In my opinion, this wonderful treatment will benefit anyone, old or young, who is not in good health."—M. C. Mulligan, 2637 Knox Av., Los Angeles.

School Board Elects 265 Teachers For Next Year

SALARIES ARE
REGULAR RATE

Teachers for the next school year were elected by the Santa Ana board of education at a special adjourned meeting of the board held in the city school administration offices last night, in accordance with recommendations of Assistant Superintendent Percy R. Davis, who will be superintendent after July 1. The board elected 265 teachers at this session and another list is to be presented by Dr. Davis in the near future.

Salary schedules calling for increases in accordance with the regular rate of increase as adopted by the school board in 1927 also were adopted by the board on the recommendation of the assistant superintendent. They provide for 158 advances in salary, ranging from $12.50 to $200 annually. The increases, however, will not raise the average salary for all members of the certified staff, it was declared by Mr. Davis, who prophesied that there would be resignations to enable election of sufficient new teachers at the minimum rates to keep the average on a level or possibly make a slight decrease in the general average.

In connection with this assertion Dr. Davis presented the board with a summary of the average salary during the past four years, which showed the following: 1927-28, 265 teachers, $530,622.25 total salaries, $1934.52 average salary; 1928-29, 269 teachers, $578,585.90 total salaries, $2002.52 average salary; 1929-30, 303 teachers, $620,917 total salaries, $2049.23 average; 1930-31, 322 teachers, $650,062.40 total salaries, $2018.82 average. These totals and averages are based on salaries for all principals, supervisors, teachers and nurses, Dr. Davis said.

The schedule under which teachers are paid was originally adopted in 1923 and revised in 1927. It provides for regular annual increases of a set amount for each year of services in the city schools until the maximum is obtained.

The schedule as it now stands provides for the following minimums and maximums: (In each instance the first figure is the minimum and the second is the maximum) kindergarten, $1200-$1800; elementary, $1200-$2000; junior high school, $1400-$2400; high school, $1500-$2800; high school department heads, $1800-$2800; junior college, $200 over high school—$3200.

Protest against making one increase which was in excess of $100 was voiced by W. M. Burke, who declared he felt increases should be held at a minimum during present business conditions. He said that individuals in other lines of endeavor were having their salaries decreased. Mr. Davis pointed out that school teachers are not able to make more in pro-

A shot at the teacher tenure law, which is a statute providing that after a teacher has been employed for the fourth year he becomes a permanent employee, subject only to dismissal on certain specified charges, was taken by the board last night. George R. Wells, president of the board, declared that efforts should be made now to prepare for killing the law at the next session of the legislature, two years hence. Dr. Davis asserted that life tenure added to life certificates made a situation that was almost unthinkable. A plan to kill the law at this session was defeated after rural opposition to the measure had been headed off by elimination of all school districts from operation under the tenure act in which there was an average daily attendance of less than 800, it was said.

DRILL TEAM TO ENTER CONTEST
AT CONVENTION

Planning to make their appearance in smart new white dresses, uniform in style, members of Calumet auxiliary drill team, with their captain, Mrs. May Glaze, hope to secure another silver cup at the annual convention of United Spanish War Veterans and auxiliaries to be held in Vallejo May 17 to 20. For they will enter the drill team competition which is to be one of the entertainment features of the convention, with Stockton, San Francisco, Oakland and other cities entering opposing teams.

Those who have watched the intricate evolutions of the score of women composing the drill team, feel that they are justified in their high hopes of adding another silver cup to their notable collection. For the difficult maneuvers are presented with a skill and spirit that reflects equally well on Mrs. Glaze as captain, and the individual members for their team work.

At earlier annual conventions held in San Diego, Fresno and Santa Cruz, the local women secured the handsome cups denoting first place in state-wide contests. Another silver cup represents first honors won at the Pacific Coast exposition held three years ago in Long Beach. From Sacramento came the cup showing second place, while another second prize cup was won last year on Armistice day for the drill team's place in the parade. A band made cabinet in the auxiliary meeting place Knights of Columbus hall, houses the collection of trophies.

The trip to Vallejo has been made possible through the co-operation of the Orange county supervisors, who set aside the sum of $400 to aid in defraying expenses of the drill team and the Calumet Drum corps. Additional money has been raised through card parties and dinners given by the auxiliary, so that every member is planning to leave in time to reach Vallejo by the opening day of the convention. The Casa de Vallejo hotel will be convention headquarters.

The competitive drill will be held Tuesday afternoon, May 19 and judges will announce their decision as soon thereafter as possible. Members of the Santa Ana team include in addition to Mrs. Glaze, captain, Mesdames Grace Deck, Bertha N. Dixon, Lillian Hubbard, Maud Brown, Ruth Hess, Marie Lindquist, Alice Gay, Gertrude Rowe, Elizabeth Moberly, Katherine Reagan, Mary Cooper, Mabel Sands, Hazel Hall, Estelle Dresser, Jean Tantlinger, Matilda Moesser and Frances Moulton.

That was before the Boxer rebellion when the famous "Old Buddha" occupied the Manchou throne. The young crown prince was so delighted with Cho Cho's gay clowning and his feats of strength and skill that he offered him a princely salary to remain in Peking as a member of his royal bodyguard.

And so time went on, Cho Cho laughing and clowning, lecturing and exhibiting his lithe strength through the years, accompanied on his travels by his wife and little daughter Emily.

When the World War came he was among the first entertainers who went to France. His cheer was needed in strange places and he eventually reached Vladivostok and other remote spots in Russia. Then the war was over and he returned to the United States. The spirit of adventure led him into Alaska, and with three companions he made a canoeing trip through Alaskan waters and eventually up to the very headwaters of the Mackenzie river.

But it was not to be expected that he would turn for long from the work that was his whole life. Back into "The States" he came and the Lyceum and Chautauqua circuits knew him well. Everywhere he carried his message of meritment, he carried also the message of clean living, clean thinking, correct eating, healthful exercise, and all the varied tents of his creed.

And perhaps his greatest success has been found in school work, and all over the United States, children have watched entranced as this 72-year-old youth showed them the feats of strength and muscular skill that he was enabled to do by practicing the habits which he outlined to them.

Today Cho Cho bade temporary farewell to his young friends in Santa Ana and went to Orange, where he was to present school programs all day. Next week he will return to Hollywood and the smiling white-haired wife awaiting him there. But he likes Orange county. He has made friends here, and he will return. He himself has said so. And you may be certain of this—what Cho Cho says he will do—he does.

And so time went on, Cho Cho laughing and clowning, lecturing and exhibiting his lithe strength through the years, accompanied on his travels by his wife and little daughter Emily.

When the World War came he was among the first entertainers who went to France. His cheer was needed in strange places and he eventually reached Vladivostok and other remote spots in Russia. Then the war was over and he returned to the United States. The spirit of adventure led him into Alaska, and with three companions he made a canoeing trip through Alaskan waters and eventually up to the very headwaters of the Mackenzie river.

But it was not to be expected that he would turn for long from the work that was his whole life. Back into "The States" he came and the Lyceum and Chautauqua circuits knew him well. Everywhere he carried his message of meritment, he carried also the message of clean living, clean thinking, correct eating, healthful exercise, and all the varied tents of his creed.

And perhaps his greatest success has been found in school work, and all over the United States, children have watched entranced as this 72-year-old youth showed them the feats of strength and muscular skill that he was enabled to do by practicing the habits which he outlined to them.

Today Cho Cho bade temporary farewell to his young friends in Santa Ana and went to Orange, where he was to present school programs all day. Next week he will return to Hollywood and the smiling white-haired wife awaiting him there. But he likes Orange county. He has made friends here, and he will return. He himself has said so. And you may be certain of this—what Cho Cho says he will do—he does.

playing progressive 800, and music was enjoyed. During the refreshment hour the table was appointed with pink blossoms, and ice cream, cake and coffee were served. Many joke gifts were presented the honored guest. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Clark, Mrs. Elizabeth Prather, William Butterfield, Miss Dora McCoid, Mrs. Della Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Paul O'Mallia and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Morgan.

The True Sophisticate

I wish that it were permitted me to elaborate the definition of that over-worked word, "Sophistication." The dictionary defines it thus: "To refine overmuch; make artificial; make knowing or worldly wise."

A group of my young friends were discussing the meaning of the word one evening and their joint opinion was that the term applied to one whose chic was undeniable, one trained to the ways of the world, subtle, finished, smooth; an acquired attribute of the fashionable world, not necessarily confined to those we designate as gentlemen or gentlewomen.

My definition was then asked, and I said that I thought a true sophisticate must, of necessity, be at heart a gentleman or gentlewoman, for only such person could be equally at home talking to their wash-woman or some great dignitary.

To me, sophistication means being absolutely sure of oneself; so contained, so poised, that it is not necessary to abase oneself to the dignitary nor high-hat the washwoman. To be such a person one must be "gently born," mentally; sensitive to surroundings, considerate in word and action, charitable in thought, poised, sane and able to live contentedly within one's self.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Crab Salad
2 cups finely shaved white cabbage
1 large can choice crab meat shredded celery or green paper for flavor contrast Salt and pepper to taste
Special Salad Dressing
1 cup mayonnaise
1 egg white, beaten stiff
1/3 cup heavy cream, whipped stiff 1/2 cup catsup
pinch of cayenne

An hour before the salad is to be served, prepare the cabbage by stripping off the outside leaves, cutting the head in two and letting it crisp in ice water. At serving time, shake the water out of the head and shave into shreds. Toss a little shaved, green pepper or celery through the cabbage and mix with the less choice crab meat, reserving the claw meat for garnishing the salad. Put a mound of the salad on each plate and place the claw meat on top.

To make the dressing have all ingredients well chilled. Whip egg white and cream stiff (and separately, of course), and then whip into the cup of mayonnaise. The catsup is added last, with whatever seasonings needed.

Pour the dressing over each portion of salad just before the salad is served. This prevents the dressing running and getting watery, a fault that ruins the best of salads!

A very choice grade of crab meat comes from Japanese waters. The claw meat is unusually nice and well adapted to salads of this type.

SEEN IN NEW ROLE

Spencer Tracy, star of "The Big House," who is seen in his latest starring feature, "Quick Millions," a takeoff on gangster stories, which will be seen at the Fox West Coast theater Saturday and Sunday.

HOOT GIBSON SEEN IN NEW WESTERN

The romance of the old West, not yet faded before the sweep of civilization and industrialization, lives again in vivid thrilling moments of action and adventure as Hoot Gibson's latest and most realistic production, "Clearing the Range," is screened at Walker's State theater. The western special, dealing with life on the limitless plains, finishes its local run Saturday.

Gibson's ability for humanizing the usually staccato and heroic role of the cowboy makes the character of Curt Fremont a likeable and interesting one. Thrilling fights, clever comedy and amazing intrigue create high entertainment, but all through it all the main character is real, rather than moviequesque.

With its dressing is worth about 400 calories, much of which is accounted for by the salad dressing, an energy-making food.

Ann's Cook Book, Number XIV, Pies, is the best of the cook book series, and is available this week free of charge on receipt of your stamped, self-addressed envelope. If you have failed to get the whole series, enclose a two-cent stamp for each one you wish, or 25 cents for the whole series.

I made a delicious cheese sauce to use with asparagus, or on toast. I am going to tell you tomorrow how to make it!

ANN MEREDITH.

ARLISS WELL LIKED IN "MILLIONAIRE"

Everybody in town knows "Dissraeli," "The Green Goddess," and "Old English"—which means that everybody expected as great an impersonation of "The Millionaire," and they were not disappointed.

Last night's audience at the Fox Broadway theater received with hearty approval the shrewd, lovable and waspish character, so absolutely different from any of Mr. Arliss' other talking picture roles. Mr. Arliss plays the part of James Alden, a self-made millionaire automobile manufacturer, who in the quest for wealth has depleted his health. His physician advises his going West for a rest cure. This Alden reluctantly does, urged by his pretty daughter Barbara, and his wife who has social ambitions.

Time hangs heavily, the claims of society prove irksome, and he is in fear that his daughter will marry one of the idle rich. To add to his discomfiture an insurance agent tells him that retired business men are considered higher risks than those who are still active. Alden determines to get busy, and without his family's knowledge, answers the ad of the owner of a gas filling station. He arrives at the address just after a likable young man, Bill Merriock, has paid all his capital for a half interest in the garage. Posing as a working man with just a small amount of cash, Alden buys the other half and becomes Bill's partner. The first customer for gas is his own daughter. He keeps out of sight, and notices with interest that the young people have met before. No further part of the whimsical and amusing story need be told. It is enough to say that Mr. Arliss' brilliant repertory contains no more delightful characterization. "The Millionaire" is a picture for the whole family.

CYPRESS

Barber and daughter, Dorothy Mae, of Long Beach; Harry and Melvin Coburn, of Cypress, Miss Dorothy Bingham, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Coburn and sons, Tommy and Jimmy.

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

ECONOMIC SURVEY OF SAFE- WAY STORES REVEALS STATUS OF EMPLOYEES

Interesting highlights on the financial, economic and social conditions existing in chain stores is revealed through a comprehensive survey made by investigators for Safeway Stores, Inc.

This survey reveals that in California:

Out of 3162 employees of the company 51 per cent were men, and 49 per cent were women.

Of this number the average residence in California is 16.7 years, only 116 of all the employees having lived in the state less than 6 months.

The average length of service in all classes is 2.5 years.

27 per cent of the families own their own homes, an indication of the financial stability and dependability of the average Safeway family, 62 per cent own radios; 72 per cent own a car.

$221 persons, or 67 per cent pay taxes to the total amount of $96,993 each year, an average of $45.47 per person.

75 per cent of Safeway employees in California make charitable donations to the total amount of $43,806 each year, an average of $18.28 per contributor. 75 per cent of these gave through Community Chests.

In the last two statements corporation taxes and donations are not included.

Indicative of interest in local activities the survey revealed that: 182 persons or 5.7 per cent belong to civic or luncheon clubs.

That 1033 persons or 32 per cent belong to fraternal organizations. That 2772 persons or 87 per cent are personally or through their family affiliated with some church.

In hundreds of instances it was found that the Safeway Stores used the entire output of California producers and manufacturers.

Safeway Stores operate in 513 California towns and have chambers of commerce affiliations in 303 of them or 97 per cent. In the balance of them there are no chambers of commerce.

The above facts are substantiated with evidence, according to officials of the company, who believe that these figures are conclusive proof that the type of persons employed by Safeway Stores are an asset to the community in which they live, and a credit to the institution which employs them.

HONEY IN SALADS

Honey effects a saving in time when it is incorporated with the fruit for a salad since it blends so easily and so perfectly. In just a few minutes it becomes a part of the fruit giving a pleasing and smooth flavor to the salad. It is because honey is used for when honey is slightly warm and drizzled about the salad it not only intensifies that appetizing twanginess we enjoy in our salad but also develops a glistening appearance that is very attractive.

SALADS

Fruits and vegetables with their appetizing salts and acids—rare digestive aids—and their health-promoting vitamins are very inportant.

One should get the benefits as well as the flavor of these two valuable foods by using them often in salad form, which also effects a saving in time.

Honey is particularly favorable in combining with fruits in salads as it blends more quickly and easily with the fruits than does sugar. In addition to the ease with which it may be handled, it is in a form which requires no further action by the digestive system before assimilation. This condition is not true when sugar is used. Therefore, in addition to its simplicity in handling, it is more healthful for salad combinations than sugar. You will also find a more delicious and satisfying salad resulting when honey is used.

TOMATO STUFFED WITH CHICKEN SALAD

1 cup diced cooked chicken (white meat)
2 cups crisp celery
6 even sized small tomatoes
Wash tomatoes and cut them in about eight sections, being careful not to let the eight cuts go down further than three-fourths the height of tomato. This will permit the tomato to form a flower with eight petals. Press the sections down slightly so that it appears like an open flower. Place 2 tablespoonsful of the above chicken salad in each opening, top with an olive and lay on a bed of crisp white lettuce leaves. Properly chilled and served with Honey mayonnaise and Honey pecan muffins. Delicious for picnic lunches.

PRACTICAL PROBLEMS IN GOVERN-

Young people in school who are studying the science of government may understand better than their elders the address of Mr. S. S. McClure Wednesday night at Laguna Beach which was printed in full in The Register yesterday. Approaching the study of municipal and county and state government as a science is an approach the junior college boys and girls understand. Older people sometimes begin to make a fetish of the status quo, and even of the past. The youngsters, some of them, are still open and analytically minded. They are learning in school that there were nefarious practices of politicians, which they suppose the country has rid itself of, and that with the assistance of Mr. McClure. When students read in school of these grand old clean ups or reforms in government of days gone by they wonder what there is left for them to do. Good government is not a fait accompli, it is a continuous struggle. Then they are surprised to find that some of the simplest ways of helping the present crime situation have not yet been tried.

Said Mr. McClure in part:

The only successful method whereby a mass of people, hundreds, thousands or millions, can organize to carry on a common enterprise, is to appoint a committee, subject to definite terms of service and to certain politics described in charters or constitutions, which will appoint permanent and qualified officials, who in turn will employ qualified experts to carry on the common enterprise. This is the method of business organization used by all corporations the world over, and by the leading civilized nations in organizing their governments.

City governments in the United States are in sore straits. New York and Chicago are the glaring examples. Citizens living elsewhere are thankful that it cannot be so in their city, yet with growth will inevitably come similar evils, if history is to be believed.

Many honest and conscientious public officials with normal heads are distraught over their own ignorance on the matters which come before them. Many of them have felt the need for trained advisors, at least.

The United States is an urban country. It is vital that we should evolve an efficient and reliable form of municipal government.

There is one point upon which no one will dispute Mr. McClure. The logical approach to the problem of crime in this country is a study of administration in those countries in which there is less crime and graft. Mr. McClure has done just that and has presented for consideration a plan of administering municipalities as we administer our business organizations.

In general it appears so logical and reasonable that one is surprised at finding much opposition to it. But there is, and that is the point at which the help of the young people will be needed.

Walter Hampden stage star, called New York critics short-sighted when they gave unfavorable reviews of his performance. That's not the way to act, Walter.

NEWSPAPER NOVICES

Every year a procession of young people march up to the newspaper offices and ask for work in the field of journalism. It is one that looks very fascinating to many of them. They see it giving them a chance to meet many kinds of people and obtain access to interesting things without cost, and it looks like a position of novelty and adventure.

But after a year or two a multitude of these novices drop out. Many quit because they are not able to measure up to its exacting standards. Their carelessness works mischief in the newspaper game with its pitfalls, and they are invited to seek occupations where the consequences of error are less serious.

Many of them quit for the reason that they cannot "see any money" in this field. They look merely at the pay envelope, and they say that it is not sufficient to offer them all they want of the pleasures and luxuries.

If people have the money-making motive so very strongly, it is just as well that they quit this game. It is not a big money-making field, except for a limited few. It may not be advisable for people to stay in it unless they feel a distinct urge for it, a love for printer's ink, and a respect for its power and usefulness.

But to those who stay in it, if they labor faithfully and intelligently, will always find a demand for their work. It is essential service that the community must have. And as the years go on, they will feel that whatever the world has or has not brought to them, it has given them the friendship of the people, growing intelligence, the power to do many good things for their home towns and their country, and acquaintance with a great many interesting people and things. To men and women of a certain temperament, such results are worth more than money.

THE RADIO IS "SETTLING DOWN"

Yesterday the National Congress of Parents' and Teachers' passed a resolution to the effect that radio broadcasting is an extension of the home; that it is a form of education; that the broadcasting channels should forever remain in the hands of the public; that facilities should be fairly divided between national, state and county governments; that they should be operated at public expense and be freed from commercial advertising.

It is most important that this body has considered radio. Broadcasting has been a mushroom growth. For the most part, since its invention, the public has been thrilled just to sit at home and "get" a certain station.

Since in America the most aggressive minds are in business it was the business people who first appreciated the commercial value of the radio, and took advantage of their foresight to buy up radios and begin commercializing and stabilizing radio, and incidentally making discoveries about the radio auditors. A few educators and religious people have also seen the opportunities afforded through the radio for reaching the people with those lines to which they are devoted. While the radio was being put to use, however, the people have become more and more selective-minded. Today the people in the home are becoming more discerning and demanding more of the radio. They are more appreciative of the radio. A new force is being brought to bear on the radio, today. The same force which was brought to bear on the newspaper years and years ago. It is public opinion. There once was a time when a newspaper was run according to the political whims of the editor. Today there are certain things which the public expects and demands of any newspaper which it supports. The chief of these is the news. People would be indignant, today, to be "let down" by the newspaper which they trust. A newspaper once having become established by gaining the confidence of the public that it can be relied upon to print the news has a precious trust to keep. It will be interesting for the newspaper people to watch the "settling down" process of the radio.

Helen Scott
Imperial Valley Press

Helen Scott will have no monument in Arlington cemetery or elsewhere possibly, nor will her name be recalled longer than the end of this week by the rest of the country, but it will be a long time before she is forgotten in the little town of Geneseo, Illinois.

And it will be a hectic memory those who knew her will always hold for her.

A schoolteacher, she decided to celebrate her twenty-sixth birthday by taking some of her pupils on a picnic. While using the railroad track as a walking place, three of the youngsters were caught on a trestle, with a train approaching.

Helen Scott had a brief moment to choose. She could save herself and sacrifice the three youngsters, or she could try to save them and be sure of her own death. She did not hesitate.

Heroically facing the oncoming train, she managed to throw one of the youngsters to safety but was unable to reach the others in time. She died with them.

That is something to think about in these days, when the gangster, the racketeer and the woman of easy virtue are portrayed as heroes and heroines in our literature and on the stage and screen.

There are more Helen Scotts all over the nation. Perhaps they do not make the front page, or any page at all, but they and not the frothy personages of the underworld and half-world, are the hope of the country.

Woman Literary Prize Winner Is No
Novelty
San Francisco Chronicle

Women, as such, are no novelties among the Pulitzer prize winners. That this year's list of literary awards is headed by two women will provoke little comment. There are now so many women in the writing craft. Yet not so long ago women writers were rare enough to attract attention because of their sex.

Samuel Johnson uttered a famous simile comparing a woman preacher to a dog walking on its hind legs. "He doesn't do it well, but we are surprised that he does it at all," said the crusty old pundit of eighteenth century English letters. It may be suspected he had some such feeling about women writers, too.

Despite Sappho, Vittoria Colonna and a line of distinguished literary women extending through the centuries, George Eliot and the Bronte sisters were read by their own generation in the side light of the sex by the authors. Now, with women doing a great share of the current writing, the public is quite accustomed to their carrying off literary prizes. One comment if occasions is that times have changed.

Great Inventions As Peacemakers
Pasadena Star-News

Peace and good will telephoned around the world is to be a striking feature of Good Will Day, May 15. Preparations are being made by Dr. Augustus O. Thomas, president of the World Federation of Education Associations. This educational group is co-operating in this thrilling project with the National Council for Prevention of War. Messages of good will, originating in the United States, will be relayed through Europe and Asia and across the Pacific and from this shore will go back to Washington over a zig-zag route through every state in the Union.

The telephone, the telegraph, the trans-oceanic cable and the wireless all are contributing toward that better understanding among nations and peoples which is bringing the world into more enduring friendships and into a keener sense of fellowship, sympathy and good will. These means of quick communication are unquestionably having tremendous influence upon peace sentiment throughout the world.

The several marvelous factors of modern life—the newspaper, the radio, the motion picture, the telephone, the telegraph and the cable—are destined to make neighbors and kindred of all nations and peoples. Only Deity can foresee and measure the amazing extent of this influencing power upon the minds and hearts of civilized men everywhere.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

QUANDARY

When glancing through the foreign page
This line my vision met:
"Distinguished scientists engage In research in Tibet."

And, further on I learned they've planned
To find out just how much
The local lamas understand
Of medicine and such.
An art, which startled me to hear
They've piled for many and many a year.

I trust the mission may succeed;
This world of mine and yours
Has, through the ages, stood in need
Of more effective cures.
When we are lying in our beds
With measles, mumps or "flu"
Too often doctors shake their heads
And don't know what to do.
Perhaps life will not be so rough
If lamas really know their stuff.

But still my mind is plunged in doubt,
I cannot understand
How much vast knowledge can come out
Of far-off lama-land.
I've pondered on it night and day,
And, though I toiled a year,
I know I could not find a way
To make the problem clear.
For "lama" to my mind denotes
A race of either sheep or goats!

Is It Fair to Charge Interest?

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

"Interest on money," we read in a popular weekly, "is a tax that few ancient tyrants would have dared to impose."

Here is one instance of this alleged injustice: "Fifty years ago, the City of Cleveland installed a new pump in its water works at a cost of $400,000. The city borrowed the money on bonds. Already the city has paid one million dollars in interest.
And the original $400,000 is still unpaid. The water pump was worn out long ago."

That seems like paying for a horse long after the horse is dead. Nobody likes to keep on paying money for a dead horse.
But in neither case can we blame those who provided the money.

A man who bought a Chevrolet motor car with borrowed money, and wore out the car, would still have to pay the interest and principal of the loan. It would be childish for him to object to repaying the loan, merely because the car was worn out.

Perhaps he was foolish to borrow the money in the first place. Perhaps the lender was foolish to let him have the money.
But that does not prove that the interest is unjust.

"Mr. Ford thinks it is stupid, and so do I," says Mr. Edison, speaking of the Muscles Shoals project, "that the people of the United States should be compelled to pay $56,000,000 in interest.
People who will not turn a shovel of dirt will collect more money from the United States than will the people who do the work. That is the terrible thing about interest."

But is there really anything more terrible about paying for the use of money than about paying for the use of anything else?
You would expect to pay a man for the use of his horses.
Why should you not pay him if he loaned you enough money
so that you could buy horses of your own?

Plainly, it is just as fair to charge for the use of money as to charge for the use of the things which money will buy.

After supper ma got out her diary and started to think what to write in it, saying, I declare not a thing has happened to me today worth being put down in black and white. Maud Hews came to see me this afternoon to show off her new hat, and she was as vain as a peacock about it although goodness knows if she'd had any idea of how it really looked she'd of had the shock of her life, but anyway that was the only single solitary brake in the ordinary days routine and I'm sure I'm not going to enter that in my diary, she said. If something unusual would only happen to me once in a while it would take a lot of hardship out of keeping a diary, she said.

Why don't you imbroil your facts with a little fiction? pop sed.
For instance write down something like this, This morning I found a 10 dollar bill, it was rather creased
but I decided to keep it for reference. This afternoon a strange gentleman approached me on the street and painted the end of my nose bright red. I was naturally curious and asked him why he had done so, and he replied that he was all out of blue paint. After supper I rather carelessly fell out of my bedroom window, which reminded me that I really must order some screens, because if people can get out flies can get
in. And so forth and so on, and then your diary will have a little variety, popped.

How can you be so silly? ma
sed. And yet if I stretched the truth a little it would still be the truth in its foundations, and later on when I read over my diary it might seem perfectly natural. For instance rite now I believe I put down that I was the one who was wearing the new hat this afternoon and Maud Hews dropped it and was so envious of it that it
it almost made her ill, she sed.

Yes gods, pop sed. And he got behind the sporting page and ma started to write down with a happy expression.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

AN AGRICULTURAL DECALOGUE

This afternoon there came into my office a young man who had just finished an agricultural shortcourse.

He was, he said, planning to spend his life on the farm, and he wanted me to say what I thought he should keep before him as a guide to this thinking
as a farmer.

Here are ten things I told him:

(1) Don't begin your career as a farmer in a defeatist mood.

(2) Don't be deluded into thinking that there is such a thing as
"the farm problem" that can be solved by a single remedy.

(3) Don't trust too much to politics for a solution of current agricultural difficulties.

(4) Don't think that farm legislation is the only legislation that affects the farm, for the farm is a part of the whole economic and social order, and any legislation that affects the social and economic order affects the farm.

(5) Don't think of the farmer
as a grower of foodstuffs only,
but as a producer of industrial raw materials as well.

(6) Don't cling to an obsolete

individualism safeguarded by the action.

(7) Don't lose interest in the problems of production just because the problems of distribution happen to be the more pressing at the moment.

(8) Don't let anything keep you out of the cooperative movement.

(9) Don't let your interest in the one cooperative you are interested in blind you to the larger interests of the cooperative movement as a whole, but remember that the cooperative movement may be killed by cooperatives that do not know how to cooperate with other cooperatives.

(10) Don't fail to follow
throughout your life the latest results of research in your particular field.

Finally the problems of the farm must be solved by the farmers, for despite the greatness of planning that outside leaders may bring to the farm, the planning will be still-born unless the farmers have schooled themselves into a way of thinking that enables them to carry out the plans.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI
HOME TEACHING

It sometimes happens that a child is to be taught at home. The mother is usually the teacher. The first subject is reading. The second one numbers. The question rises as to how the teaching is to be done? If it is well-done it helps the child tremendously. Ill-done, it hinders him in greater proportion.

It is best to begin with reading
and let the number lessons wait.
If a child wants to count help him to do so, but tables can wait a while. At least until reading is well on its way to accomplishment.

Now about reading. We do not teach children their letters any more. Not as the first step. They will learn the letters, but afterward. Not in the beginning. We start with a story. We tell the story. We tell it exactly as it is in the book. Word for word.

Then we read that story and let
the child look on while we read it.
After that we begin the process of teaching reading. Not a very complicated process, but a careful one, if we would make a good reader of the new pupil.

The first thing to do when a child is to be taught at home is to get in touch with the school to which he is to go later on in his career. If you teach a child one method of reading, and the school another, the child falls between the two stools. If you use one set of readers and the school
another, the child is at a loss again. So get in touch with the teacher who teaches the beginners to read. Get the book she uses.
Get the manual she follows. Get her interest in your pupil. Get her to let you watch her teach the class to read. Then get her to come in once in a while and listen to your pupil read. Her advice and co-operation are precious to the progress of the child.

It is hard on a child who has been brought up on The Little Red Hen to be faced with a reader
whose hero is The Goat My Father Bought. Either "Goat" or "Hen" will do. Which one does the school to which the child will go, use?
Use it and save the child time
and discouragement.

If the child is under six years
of age, and he can enter school at the age of six, why teach him to read at home? Much better easier after he is six, than before.
He learns easier in school than to leave the reading for the teacher.
The child learns to read much at home. It is not wise to try to get ahead of the school. The child who knows the reading lessons, yet must sit in class while they are being taught, is at a great disadvantage. He finds nothing to interest him. He gets in poor habits.

During the first five years he learns to name things. To talk.
To tell his name, address, and telephone call. His father's name. To recognize seven primary colors. To ride his wheel, or tend her doll.
To recite nursery rhymes. To have good manners. To practice health habits. To get along with other children. To co-operate with other people in the home—helping them and learning to adjust himself to them. That is plenty for a small child to do.

The child that cannot go to school during his sixth year ought to be taught to read and tell stories at home. And that should be done in co-operation with the school and the teacher.

BATTLE AT LENS

On May 8, 1917, the Germans launched a violent counter-attack against the British line near Lens.
This struggle was part of the great Battle of Arras which lasted nearly a month.

Philip Gibbs, war correspondent,
colorfully describes the fighting
here as follows:

"I watched this battle of guns from the old trenches looking across to Lens and giving a wide sweep of the battle front from the field of Loos to the ground below
the sloping shoulder of Vimy Ridge.

"This ground was the storm center of the world's war last night
just after dark, and before the coming of the moon, lights rose from the German lines. Those rockets rose high... some of them burned for a minute or more and the woods and trenches beneath them were illuminated with sharp white lights. One remained hanging high over Lens like a great star.

"All through the night the battle of the guns went on and the sky was filled with the rush of shells and the moon veiled his face from this horror which made hell on earth. But in the little wood a nightingale sang all through the night."

"And how about the lobster?" the waiter inquired.
"Oh, he can order whatever he likes," came the startling reply.
—TIT-BITS.
